

Open-ended questions

1. What did you like or dislike about solving the drag-and-drop (Parsons problem) questions? Please include at least one positive and one negative comment.
2. What did you like or dislike about solving open-ended programming questions (i.e. writing code in OneCompiler)? Please include at least one positive and one negative comment.
3. Between drag-and-drop and traditional programming questions, which question type do you prefer? Why? (Please consider the exercise type only. For drag and drop consider moodle and for traditional programming consider OneCompiler)